

King Peasus and Dragon Bolly

King Peasus und Dragon Bolly were once cursed Children who didn't know at all about their extraordinary gift.

They lived in an enchanted castle with many other cursed children too who didn't know about their Superhero power.

The Castle was big and had four towers that guarded it.

One Day came a hug wind, the sky was covered with dark clouds it was storming, it flashed and thundered so violent that the towers broke down and so opened the way for the cursed children to fly away out of the enchanted castle. But to their Amazement there was no rainbow upon the sky after this violent storm.

They were so sad and decided to take the road to find the bright light that brings the Rainbow to shine.

They scattered throughout the whole wide world any one with his best friend, like King Peasus with Dragon Bolly too.

The two friends traveled around the world, the universe and the whole galaxy. They admire the Milky Way, the planets, the Stars, the Moon, the Sun but they couldn't find the bearer of the light.

So they went back on earth a little disappointed but not sad at all.

As they came in the middle of the Earth across the Equator, they made a big discovery, exactly in the middle of the Earth, from quarter to nine to quarter pass three lays the biggest beautifulliest Ocean that they had never ever seen.

They had travelled around the Whole universe but they had never seen something beautiful like that.

They decided promptly to swim in the Blue Ocean and just to the minute when they went in the water the two best friend who were cursed, transformed into King Peasus and Dragon Bolly, there were looking so nice and glowed in their own truth like never before in their whole entire Life.

They just flew on the Ocean surface with eagles and played together in the water with other seafish, there were so happy that they couldn't stop to laugh and then they wished in their hearts that the other children could find the way to the middle of the Earth too to two.

They wished they could send them a sign so that wherever they were they could receive it.

The two friends had a great idea how this can be possible.

Dragon Bolly had Wings to fly as a dragon use to and King Peasus had a Royal Rod with a Diamond on the top as a real King used to. As the Sun rise up, flapped dragon Bolly with his wings on the Rod of King Peasus to make a light change with the Sun that to each sunrise a different colour comes out depending on what the Children are so longing the most for and wishing from the deepest of their Heart and so any Child could be able to see the Colour of the Rainbow at any sunrise or sunset and give the light they received to other.

And there went the Days so warm and the Nights so clear like never before.
